

Please DO NOT allow consolidation of broadcast ownership.
Such a change would have a negative effect on the diversity of opinion available to the American public, and would also pose a threat to freedom of speech. With broadcast outlets in the hands of a few wealthy interests, their editorial views would blanket large areas, and the opinions of those who do not agree with their views would be far less likely to get on the air.
That is why the fundamental restrictions on ownership were instituted by the FCC in the first place.
It is vital to a healthy political debate that they remain in place.
